

Thinking of Refinancing?

Mortgage rates have dropped to levels not seen in years. If you're thinking of refinancing, you probably won't find a better time than now. Taking advantage of these low rates to refinance could help you:

- Lower your monthly mortgage payments—savings may be significant
- Reduce uncertainty by converting from an adjustable to a fixed rate loan
- Tap into the equity you have in your home to fund much needed remodeling, consolidate higher interest debt or fund a college education.

No matter whether your goal is to lower your payments or take equity out of your home, HomeStreet Bank can help. HomeStreet has been helping families finance homes since 1921.

Give me a call for a no-obligation consultation. But please act soon. Today's low rates won't last forever. I look forward to hearing from you.
